Donald Mzima

Frontend
Developer

SUMMARY

I am frontend developer, which primarly works on web development . I gained my skills in year and months of hard work, where I began as a Junior developer, then worked at Joblify-Connect. Then progressed through a series of exposure to different technologies , that made me tactile, and agile. I am passionate about learning and solving problems, currently seeking for a company with and ambitions and innovative ideas, that can be driven by a collective of software engineers to help bring their goals to light
